

Minutes of the Jan 18 2024 LFGC General meeting

Meeting started around 10:30a

Barbara Foster opened with the Pledge of Allegiance
Geri Medway read the inspiration.

Committees:

Hospitality: Anna Waugh explained about her nephew's accident and his surgeries. She was glad the club was supportive to her when her husband passed away and now with her nephew's current condition.

Greeters and pre-school garden: Bev Vargish explained Spotlight, and that she had been working with Bonnie Oakden as welcoming as well as pre-school garden. Shadows will help this.

Trips and Tours: Pat Chong mentioned that February 15 at 10A the club will visit "The Ecology Center of Newport Beach". This involves some walking. In the afternoon around 2p the members can tour the "Environmental Center of Newport Beach" They could attend the lecture first and then walk around. Members who are interested were requested to text her. Lunch will be on their own at a restaurant of their choice.

Hospice: Nadine Melberg encouraged members to save the empty round cans of Kleenex for her.

Ways and Means: Marilyn Hill told members that there were pots in the back. Each member should take one home and pot a plant, care for it and bring it to the Boutique for the Club. The next planting will be on Tuesday the 23rd at 1P. Succulents will be needed to plant in frames. A representative is required for Tillandsias and more wrapped Raffle items were needed for Fabulous Finds.

Butterfly kits: Barbara Hochgesang said that they have sent a letter to all schools in this area who were interested in Kits. Supplies would be ordered in March. In April the kits would be assembled. A sign-up sheet will be posted at the February meeting.

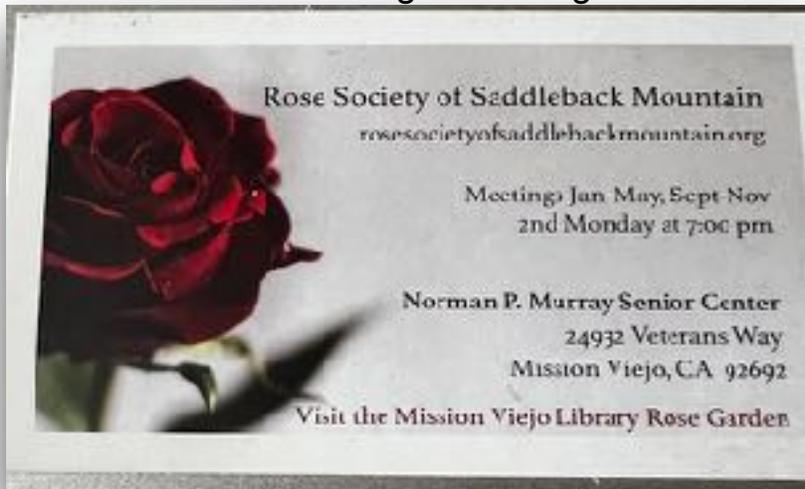

Hospitality: Cheryl Weaver and Diane Boeck encouraged members to join the board. The best way to do so was to shadow someone and ask questions.

Membership: Rita Bradley mentioned the need for new members.

Raffle and plant sale: Ted Bullockus, mentioned that he works at a bookstore. He buys books for $1 and sells them for $2 at the Club.

Penny Pines: Suzanne Stephens announced that Penny Pines took in $49.07 in Dec which she is waiting to deposit so that it is counted as a 2024 donation. This month she collected about $59.05. These totaled $108.12 which were given to Tibby Montgomery.

Diane Soeder mentioned The Rose Society would be pruning the roses at The Norman Murray Community Center next Friday from 9A to noon. Members were encouraged to bring their own tools to learn how to prune.

Carolyn Egar, a master rosarian did the presentation on why we need roses in our gardens and how to care for them.

Barbara Foster thanked Ginny Heard for helping with the laptop projector.

The meeting ended at noon.

Respectfully submitted,
Ramilla Lewis
